Biography

A senior Gälpu man who lives on his Gumatj clan mother country at Gunyaṅara'. He often stays for occasions at Galiwin'ku. He is a specialist yidaki player and craftsman who very rarely creates other art & craft for sale these days.

His reputation as a master yidaki craftsman and player has seen him rise to cult status internationally, and brings many visitors hungry to learn from him every year. He has delivered all seven of the Garma festival Yidaki Master Classes at home in Arnhem Land, and has performed and taught in other Australian cities. He has traveled to Germany, the USA, Japan and Dubai to provide yidaki performances and tuition.

Djalu' has studied theology at Nungalinya college Darwin in 1994. In 1997 he travelled to Canberra to assist in opening of the 'Painters of the Wagilag Sisters Story 1937-1997' at the National Gallery where he took part in overseeing the building of a sacred sand sculpture in the Gallery foyer for the exhibition opening where he played yidaki. In 1998 he participated in a cultural exchange project "The Meeting of the Waters" convened by the NT University Fine Art Dept. He worked with artists from the Philippines and Indonesia as well as a white Australian working on both prints and painting.
